

We, at Vision Help, are grateful that we can take part in the huge work of fighting against child abuse and changing lives.

We built facilities and opened our doors to many children who have been in need. But while they are already with us in a safe and beautiful environment, there is more work to be done.

The bulk of our task lies also in the healing process of each and every child under our care — every trauma and every unexplained consequences of their dark pasts are like mountains that each one needs to climb and overcome.

This is why we take the extra effort in standing against child abuse.
